To Whom It May Concern,

Since June 2012, all Center for English as a Second Language (CESL) courses count as courses toward the degree.

CESL offers the equivalent to English Composition courses for international students. Most international students will take their English Composition courses through CESL rather than through the English Department. These courses also count toward the degree. Listed here are the CESL courses and their ENGL equivalents:

a. ESL1070 = ENGL1000
b. ESL1080 = ENGL1001
c. ESL2089 = ENGL2089

Should you have any questions regarding CESL courses, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Thank you!

Sincerely,

Ting Xiao, Ed.D.
