

Doctor of Philosophy

Counselor Education

You've come to a point in your career where you have helped many clients live happier lives through mental health and counseling practices. You've reviewed and performed research on the populations you serve. Now, you are ready to apply those theories and principles by teaching new counselors relevant and valuable lessons that will put them in a position where they are able to readily work with patients.

Be EXPERIENCED

The University of Cincinnati offers a doctorate in Counselor Education that prepares professionals to be counselor educators and supervisors to advance in positions in higher education, public school systems, and in research facilities. Graduates within this program become skilled in research, teaching, and supervision based upon the findings within their populations. Students select from one of the following three focuses to develop their specializations:

- Multicultural/Social Justice
- Substance Abuse
- School Counseling

Be INVESTED

Invest in yourself and your career. Before you graduate, you will build a resume that sets you apart, make connections that can help lead to job offers, learn what you like most about your field, and gain the confidence that only experience provides. Work in a variety of settings, including:

- Career Counselor
- Department Administrator
- Guidance Counselor
- Mental Health Supervisor
- Researcher

The PhD in Counselor Education is a Council for the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) accredited doctoral program.

$47,000 average earnings
for graduate students

6% Increase in demand in employment for this field over the next ten years
(US Bureau of Labor Statistics, 2020)

Our program will enable you to:

- Develop competence in counseling, supervision, and counselor education.
- Remain dedicated to evaluating your clinical practices and programmatic interventions.
- Learn to create well developed research that will advance counselors and their ability to serve their patients.

Ready to Begin?

For more information about this program or to schedule a visit, please contact a representative:

Email: cechrecruit@uc.edu

Phone: (513) 556-6308

Visit us online: cech.uc.edu